Inauguration of Language Lab: Report

Programme Objective:

The Department of English has instituted the language lab with the intention of enhancing the communicative competence, listening skills, and pronunciation among students by providing access to technology-enabled language learning resources. The initiative sought to create an interactive environment that supports practical language training and enhances overall proficiency in English.

Report:

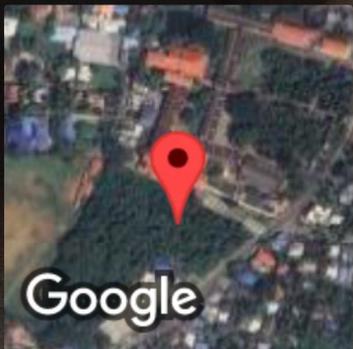

PG & Research Department of English, Mercy College formally inaugurated its Language Lab on 27 January 2026 with the support of the RUSA Fund. The facility was inaugurated by Professor Peter Cooke, University Professor Emeritus and former Head of the School of Drama at Carnegie Mellon University, USA, in the presence of the Principal, Dr. Sr. N. M. Louly, Head of the Department, Dr. Sheena John, faculty members, and students of the department. The event marked a significant milestone in the department's efforts to integrate modern pedagogical tools into language teaching and learning. The Language Lab is equipped to provide students with hands-on training in listening, speaking, and pronunciation through digital resources and guided practice sessions.

Programme Outcome:

The establishment of the Language Lab is expected to substantially improve students' communicative skills and confidence in using English. It will serve as a continuous learning space that promotes interactive practice, self-paced learning, and effective language acquisition for the academic community.
