REPORT ON CONSTITUTION DAY CELEBRATION

Venue: Kallikad GLP School

Date and Time: 26 November 2025

The Department of Economics and Sociology, Mercy College Palakkad, in collaboration with the Institute of Parliamentary Affairs and the FDSJ Forum, conducted a series of educational and cultural programmes at Kallikad GLP School as part of the Constitution Day celebration on 26 November 2025. A total of 62 school students enthusiastically participated in the event. The programme began at 10:00 AM with a brief introduction on the significance of Constitution Day, followed by a sequence of activities designed to educate, engage, and inspire the young students.

The first session was an awareness class, handled by Adhrisya, (D₂ Economics) who delivered an insightful and interactive session on the importance of the Indian Constitution and the rights and duties of citizens. The session helped the students gain a basic understanding of constitutional values in a simple and relatable manner. This was followed by a chart presentation by Naveena, (D₂ Economics) who creatively displayed key elements of the Constitution through colourful charts. The visual presentation made the concepts more accessible to the young learners and generated active interest among them. A skit was then performed by Jyothika, Soorya, and Drisya (D₂ Economics) capturing constitutional themes through a simple storyline. Their performance effectively conveyed the importance of equality, justice, and freedom, leaving a strong impression on the audience. A quiz competition was conducted afterward, engaging the students in an exciting and educational contest. The quiz encouraged participation, teamwork, and quick thinking, and the students responded with great enthusiasm.

To encourage and appreciate the young participants, small gifts were distributed to students. The programme concluded with cultural performances, which added vibrancy and joy to the event, making the day memorable for everyone involved.

Overall, the Constitution Day celebration at Kallikad GLP School was a meaningful and enriching experience for the students. The collaborative effort of the organisers and the enthusiastic participation of the students made the programme a resounding success.
