Venue: Mercy College, Palakkad & various locations in Palakkad Town

Organised by: Department of Economics and Department of Sociology, Mercy College, Palakkad

The Department of Economics and the Department of Sociology of Mercy College, Palakkad, jointly organised a Kerala Palliative Care Day Awareness Programme on 16 January 2026, in association with Sahajeevanam Palliative Care. The programme aimed to create public awareness about palliative care, its importance, and the need for compassionate support for patients facing serious illnesses.

As part of the awareness initiative, students actively participated in fund collection drive from various places in and around Palakkad town. The funds collected were intended to support the activities and services of Sahajeevanam Palliative Care, thereby instilling a sense of social responsibility and empathy among students.

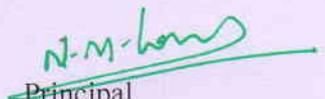

A major highlight of the programme was the flash mob performances organised by the students at different prominent locations in Palakkad town. Through impactful movements, slogans, and coordinated performances, the flash mobs effectively conveyed messages on care, compassion, and dignity for the terminally ill, drawing public attention and engagement.

around 150 students participated in the programme, forming 16 groups, each contributing actively to awareness creation and fund collection activities. The enthusiastic involvement of students reflected their commitment to social service and community outreach.

The Kerala Palliative Care Day Awareness Programme was a meaningful and successful initiative that strengthened collaboration between academic departments and social service organisations. The programme not only helped spread awareness among the public but also sensitised students to the importance of humane care and social commitment, making the event impactful and memorable.
