REPORT ON ROADMAP TO COMMODITY MARKET & CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Venue: EV 39 Classroom

Date and Time: 25 February at 10:00 AM

A session on “Commodity Market & Career Opportunities” was organized by the Department of Economics and Sociology at Mercy College Palakkad on 25 February at 10:00 AM in EV 39. The resource person for the session was Karthika, who shared valuable insights into the functioning of commodity markets and the various career opportunities available in this field.

The session aimed to introduce students to the concept of the commodity market, where goods such as gold, agricultural products, and other raw materials are traded. The speaker explained how commodity trading works and how it influences the economy and financial markets. She also discussed the importance of market analysis, price fluctuations, and risk management in commodity trading. During the session, Karthika highlighted different career paths related to the commodity market, including roles such as commodity trader, market analyst, broker, and financial advisor. She emphasized the importance of developing analytical skills, financial knowledge, and awareness of market trends for students who wish to pursue careers in this sector.

The session was interactive and informative. Students actively participated by asking questions and clarifying their doubts regarding commodity trading and related career prospects.

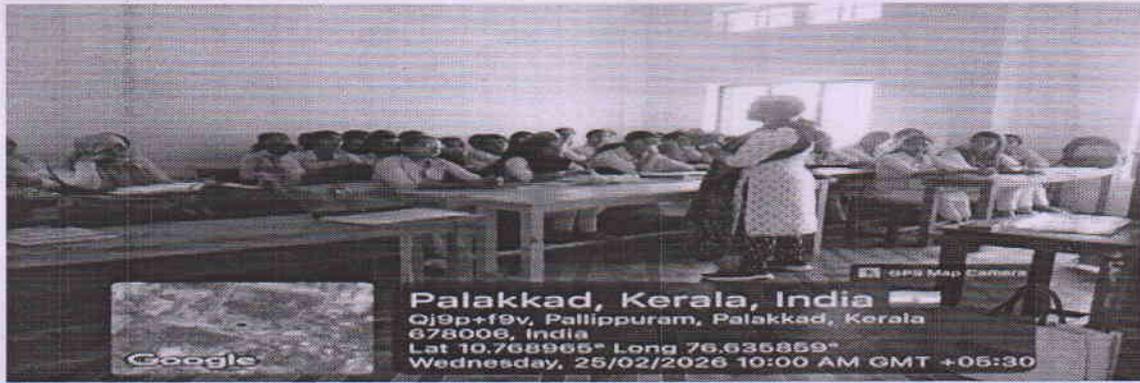

Overall, the program was highly beneficial for students as it enhanced their understanding of the commodity market and provided guidance on potential career opportunities in the financial and trading sectors.
